Matching cruise industry growth and cruise port capacities

Cruise Europe and its more than 100 member ports between Gibraltar in the South, Kirkenes in the North and Lulea in the Baltic still has the potential for growth. Only 75% of the potential cruise ports along the Atlantic coast are members; also one has to include the potential of the cruise ports in Greenland and the area east of the North Cape. The tourist organisations of the ports, the regions, the countries can help as members to make Cruise Europe stronger in marketing the destination Northern Europe to the cruise lines.

The aim for Cruise Europe is to match the ongoing growth of the cruise industry in offering better infrastructure in the member ports, which means more cruise terminals, or to point out the diversity of the many destinations and attractions in Northern Europe.

Cruise Europe has to open a dialogue with the cruise lines with the intention to spread the growing number of cruise ships and the even bigger cruise passenger capacities over more ports, over more cruise areas, over more countries. The success of the Baltic is also possible in the areas of West Europe, of UK & Ireland and of Norway and Iceland. Cruise lines have to be convinced that all four cruise areas in Northern Europe have equal attractions and many good ports to host the growing cruise fleet.

The members of Cruise Europe have to market their cruise area as an attractive cruise destination in its own. To sell just one port to the cruise line does not help. Cruise ports have to work together to form an itinerary, which works for the cruise lines.

Despite the global recession the cruise industry will grow because of the high customer satisfaction. Nowhere customers can find such a perfect holiday: visiting many new destinations, being served with great food in an excellent manner, enjoying state-of-the-art cruise ships with outstanding entertainment, wellness, relaxation and fun. Cruise Europe is part of this cruise product and partner of the cruise lines. Let's grow with our customers.

Akureyri

Akureyri sits on the shores of Iceland's longest fjord, Eyjafjordur. It is the country's second-largest town and the self-proclaimed capital of the North. With a population of just 19,600, there are many things that set Akureyri apart. The nearby Lake Mývatn for example is set in a bewitchingly beautiful area, featuring rock columns, geothermal vents and the popular Mývatn Nature Baths. Located approximately one hour away from the port, Lake Mývatn consistently proves itself to be the most popular shore excursion for cruise passengers visiting Akureyri. Another popular tour is the short flight to Grimsey Island - the only part of Iceland to cross the Arctic Circle. The small island has excellent tourist facilities, an interesting variety of landscapes and is home to a huge bird population during the summer months.

Attraction & Excursions

Tour to Godafoss waterfall and Lake

Myvatn is famous for its abundant bird life - in fact, one of the largest concentrations of breeding ducks in the world. The surroundings are truly magnificent - the volcanic & geothermal.

Tour of Akureyri town and Godafoss w

Godafoss, derives its name from the momentous occasion on which the Chieftan, Thorgeir of Ljósvatn, threw his Pagan Idols into the falls as a demonstration of his conversion to the Christian faith

Polar flight to the Island of Grimsey

The island of Grimsey, lying 41 km (25.5 miles) north of the mainland, is in fact Iceland's only bit of territory within the Arctic Circle

Ålesund

Ålesund has a beautiful setting across several islands stretching out into the sea, and is situated at the very entrance of the UNESCO World Heritage site, the Geirangerfjord. Above all Ålesund is internationally renowned for its unique architecture in the Art Nouveau style. The town was devastated by fire on a winter's night in 1904, laying 850 houses in ashes and leaving 10,000 people homeless. The new Ålesund 'rose from the ashes' in the continental turn-of-the-century style with a myriad of turrets, spires and medieval ornaments.

Aksla, the town mountain, offers breathtaking views across the Art Nouveau town, islands and fjords. The Art Nouveau Centre portrays the unique position Ålesund has in Norwegian architectural history and the Atlantic Sea-Park, one of the largest aquariums in Northern Europe, is located in Ålesund.

Bergen

The city of Bergen was founded on an old Viking settlement in the year 1070, and has a proud history and many interesting cultural monuments. Today Bergen has more than 260,000 inhabitants. The city is famous for its exciting mixture of old and new architecture, its charm and atmosphere. Bergen is surrounded by one of the world's most spectacular tourist attractions - the Norwegian Fjords, which is included on UNESCO's World Heritage List. Bryggen in Bergen is also listed on UNESCO's World Heritage List, and the city is a designated World Heritage City. Bergen is a popular cruise destination and the leading cruise port in Norway with around 330 cruise ship calls bringing more than 450,000 cruise passengers per year.

Bodo

Bodø is a fairly new cruise destination with a lot to offer. We can accommodate virtually all cruise ships and offer a great variety of shore excursions for all ages, all group sizes and all activity levels. Modern port facilities located 1km from the city centre and within walking distance makes it easy to explore the city on your own.

It is our objective to make Bodø the port you will enjoy visiting – again and again, as you seek new markets for your cruise ship experiences or for your yacht vacations. Being located in Northern Norway's second largest town, with a major airport with one-stop connections to most gateways in Europe, and the northernmost end of the Oslo-North Norway railroad, Bodø is a great location for both guests in quest of adventures surrounded by fantastic nature, as well for logistics purposes as resupplying by air, rail or sea.

Eskifjordur

A host of options await those arriving at Eskifjörður Port, our exciting destination for cruise and pleasure vessels of all sizes. Through its assortment of traditional and modern houses rising above the fjord, Eskifjörður is typical of Icelandic seaside villages. Local residents, as well as other residents of the geographically huge surrounding municipality of Fjarðabyggð, will do their best to provide cruise ship travellers with a pleasant visit. The fjord leading to Eskifjörður is sheltered and free of reefs, while the harbour has a deep approach and outstanding facilities.

We extend a hearty welcome to the Port of Eskifjörður.

Geirangerfjord

The untamed Norwegian landscape and dramatic scenery of the Geirangerfjord has been a magnet for tourists for generations. Every year thousands of visitor's flocks to our beautiful fjord landscape, inscribed on UNESCO List of World Heritage Natural Sites. As Norway's second largest cruise port, we need to change in line with our customer's needs. To develop the Geirangerfjord as a 21st century tourist destination, a SeaWalk (a floating pier system) was opened in July 2013. This enables cruise passengers to walk directly ashore into Geiranger town center. The SeaWalk develops Geiranger as one of the world's most unique tourist destinations, reduces the environmental impact, and creates a better customer experience. With SeaWalk in Geiranger and Hellesylt Quay, which was opened May 17th, 2012, the two charming villages at each end of Geirangerfjord are well prepared to welcome cruise ships in the years to come.

Hafnarfjordur

Hafnarfjordur - The town in the lava

The town of Hafnarfjordur has grown up among lava which flowed about 7,300 years ago.

As the lava flowed into the sea it formed strange and picturesque shapes, and the people of the town have placed their homes among these dramatic rock formations.

Hafnarfjordur harbour is a fishing port which has three quays suitable for accommodating cruise ships.

Iceland's third-largest community resides here with just over 26,000 inhabitants, not to mention the elves who are reputed to live in various places in and around the town!

Within easy reach of the town is the 'sacred mount' of Helgafell, a 340 mtr peak easily climbed via the northeast ridge.

Krýsuvík is an area of geothermal activity and outstanding natural beauty.

The town offers visitors plenty of activities such as whale-watching, horse-riding, and elf spotting, as well as splendid Viking feasts.

The Hafnarborg Institute of Culture and Fine Arts offers art exhibitions and concerts.

Haugesund

Welcome to Norway's new Port of Call: Haugesund. Haugesund is situated between Stavanger and Bergen - nestled between countless small islands and endless mighty fjords - such as Åkrafjord, Hardangerfjord and Lysefjord. The town itself offers exciting specialist stores for clothes, interiors and wellbeing. Trawl the pedestrian streets to sample the sea air or enjoy a soothing cup of coffee at a cosy café. Haugesund is a young and vibrant town with roots dating back to Viking times. A thousand years ago, King Harald Fairhair united Norway into a single kingdom near here. Ever since, Haugaland has laid claim to the title "Homeland of the Viking Kings - Norway's Birthplace". As in Viking days, seafaring and trade symbolise this coastal region. The region is rich in history with many exciting destinations to experience. A broad range of excursions is available to explore the history, culture and stunning scenery the area offers.

Åkrafjord and Langefoss waterfall

Åkrafjord, a glimpse of fjord Norway in all its beauty. Langfoss waterfall was in March 2011 voted to one of the ten most beautiful waterfalls in the world by CNN.

Old Skudeneshavn

The charming "old town" consists of 130 well preserved wooden, white houses originating from the 1800's. Join the city walk guided tour to learn more about this idyllic place!

Isafjordur

Isafjordur has a history of trade and commerce dating back to the 16th century. The port of Isafjordur is close to the most effective fishing grounds in Icelandic and east Greenland waters and is en route of fishing vessels sailing to and from these arctic waters north of Iceland. The harbor is open 24 hours and all service is available around the clock. Port of Isafjordur has modern harbor facilities including new 190 meters long wharf with 8,0 meters depth at low tide water where vessels can stay off the pier at SW corner 15 mtr. and NA corner 30 mtr. if draft promise.

Although relatively small, Isafjordur is a bustling and widely visited harbor servicing cruise ships and cargo vessels as well as fishing vessels.

Cruise ship arrivals in Isafjordur have been steadily increasing over the last decade or so. In the year 2015, 60 ship calls have already been announced, so the outlook is good. However, we always welcome more traffic.

Keflavik

The Keflavik Harbour is a gateway into Reykjanes UNESCO Global Geopark. It is a prime-positioned port in the town centre offering expedition ships the perfect scouting base from which to explore the Reykjanes peninsula and some of Iceland's natural and cultural highlights.

Located next to Iceland's main international airport, Keflavik offers great opportunities for combining turnarounds with a visit to the geological wonders of the Reykjanes Geopark.

The Reykjanes peninsula is a certified UNESCO Global Geopark. It is home to many important geological formations, some of which are utterly unique, including numerous types of volcanoes in at least four separate volcanic zones, with hundreds of open fissures and faults. The last eruption on the Reykjanes Peninsula began in March 2021.

Reykjanes Geopark has listed 56 sites as Geosites that are significant to the geological and cultural heritage of the region and some of them are highlighted in the port attractions.

Culture

Reykjanes exhibitions and museums offer visitors an experience and tours into the culture and history of the region which reaches back to Iceland's settlement.

Klaksvik

Klaksvik is the second biggest town of the Faroe Island, and the biggest white fish town too. The town is located on Bordoy, which is one of the northernmost islands. Klaksvik is located between two inlets lying back to back. It is an important harbour with fishing industry, and a modern fishing-fleet.

Originally four farms were at the location where Klaksvik is now. By time they grew into four villages that finally merged to what now is called Klaksvik. What really kicked off the development towards a town was the set up of a centralised store for all the northern islands on the location.

The church Christians-kirkjan dates from 1963. Its architecture is unconventional with a detached bell-frame. It is made of Faroese basalt and wood. Inside the church a Faroese rowing boat is hanging down from the ceiling. The font is made of a 4000 years old heathen sacrificial bowl originating from Denmark.

Kristiansand

Founded in 1641, Kristiansand is a town steeped in tradition and maritime history. It was once the home to one of the world's largest fleets of sailing ships. Although the whole town centre fits within one square kilometre it is Norway's fifth largest town and the capitol of Southern Norway.

At the Fisherman's wharf one can find an exciting fish market, lively restaurants and small boat traffic. Kristiansand's old town, Posebyen, can boast Northern Europe's largest collection of lowrise, wall-to-wall wooden houses.

From Kristiansand visitors have easy access to unspoilt nature. The south coast is dotted with mile upon mile of tiny rocky islands and picturesque white-painted houses in sheltered inlets, all set against a backdrop of lush green forests and lakes, and a mountainous and majestic inland. See Kristiansand and the surrounding region by foot, bike or coach.

Kristiansund

Kristiansund is situated at the very edge of the Atlantic Ocean, spread out on four main islands with a charming harbour in the middle. The town is known for opera and clipfish (bacalao), with its own clipfish museum. The harbour boat Sundbåten is a great way to experience the town from the seaside. The tiny island Grip is also worth visiting. The scenic Atlantic Ocean Road is only 30 min. drive away. Kristiansund is a small but experienced cruise port with 25-30 yearly cruise calls from February to November, attracting mainly small and mid-sized cruise ships. The port is located close to the main shipping lane between Ålesund and Trondheim. Cruise ships berth directly in the town centre, only steps from shopping, restaurants, cafés and attractions. You can walk easily everywhere. Kristiansund is well suitable for winter cruises. An annual opera festival goes on for 3 weeks in February, ideal for a themed cruise in combination with Northern Lights in the north.

Leknes

Voted by National Geographic as one of the most appealing destinations in the world, Lofoten is an Arctic island group that has been a cruise destination since 1889. Recent years have seen an annual average of 100 cruise calls as well as expansion into a winter cruise season. The landscape is striking in its variety: wildly beautiful places of marsh and rock, green fields and still lakes, dramatic mountains and white sand beaches.

Lofoten is dotted with picturesque villages and fish-drying racks, as stockfish - dried cod - has been the main export since the Middle Ages. The five main islands are linked by road and you can easily cross all five and return in a day. Passengers can also disembark at one port and rejoin the ship at another. Various national and international publications have named different places in Lofoten "the most beautiful beach in Norway", "the most beautiful islands in the world" and "the most beautiful view in the world"

Narvik

Welcome to Narvik - A peninsula surrounded by fjords and mountains.

Narvik is so much more than just beautiful nature!

It is the home of Ofoten railway, the navvies, the famous bears Salt & Pepper and its unique war history.

It was the first industrial town in Northern Norway and was given town status in 1902 as the construction of the Ofoten Railway was completed. A town centre was formed and its unique culture was, and still is, influenced by Swedish navvies, British engineers and sailors from across the world. Located 45 km from the Swedish border you can visit two countries in one day.

OldenLoen

Olden & Loen is two small villages located at the inner end of the fjord - Nordfjord. The head of the Fjord is characterized by varied and dramatic scenery. Peaceful valleys and tidy farms lie in contrast to gleaming glaciers, foaming waterfalls, and towering mountains. Olden is the gateway to the Jostedal Glacier, the largest glacier on the European mainland. A tour to Briksdal, its most well-known glacier arm, is highly recommended. The village of Olden and Loen are vigorous and active, with blooming trade and businesses. They have long been known for tourism and industry, but are now also famous for contemporary design.

OldenLoen is the main cruise destination in the Nordfjord region, but cruise vessels are most welcome in all the Nordfjord ports: Måløy, Selje, and Sandane; each hosting a range of interesting attractions and excursion possibilities. More than 30 different excursions to offer.

Oslo

It's this combination of stunning nature and capital city vibe with world class museums, food and attractions which makes Oslo such a unique cruise destination.

The capital of Norway with its backdrop of hills, lies at the head of the Oslofjord, a 40-mile stretch of sheltered water surrounded by wooded hills dotted with summer houses that narrows dramatically about half-way up. Dominating the harbour is Akershus Fortress, a medieval stronghold and royal residence built around year 1300, while the twin towers of the town hall face onto an exciting waterfront with shops, restaurants and pubs. Among the special attractions of Oslo are the spectacular Opera House resembling an enormous iceberg, the Viking Ship Museum at Museum Peninsula Bygdoy, housing discoveries from Gokstad, Oseberg and Tune as well as other finds from Viking tombs around the Oslofjord.

Cruise vessels can dock at a great location in the city center.

Runavík

- Our main port - King's Harbour:

The Port of Runavík, also known as King's Harbour, is situated in the heart of Faroe Islands connected via subsea tunnels to Norðuroyggjar (20 minutes from Runavík to Klaksvík) and to Tórshavn (12 minutes from Runavík to Tórshavn). History tells us that both the King of Denmark and vikings used this harbour, because it was the safest natural harbour in the Faroe Islands.

The port offers good reception facilities with tourist information, Ask Me-staff and free shuttle buses on request. Cruise ships dock at King's Harbour, quaysides 2, 3 and 4. The total length of the quaysides is 567 m with water depths from 5 - 12 m (of which 321 m have a depth of 12 m).

- Our Expedition Cruise Destinations

During the past few years we've developed a safe and sustainable product for expedition ships to our small villages Funningur, Elduvík and Oyndarfjørður. By scrolling down to the bottom of our site, you'll find a presentation video of one of our visits.

Hiking

A hike around the beautiful lake Toftavatn is very popular all year round. Approximately 4 km from Visit Runavík and back on a good and smooth path. Another popular hike is from the village Lamba to the village Rituvík. It's a 7 km hike and you'll...

Shopping Street

Here you can buy clothes, books, souvenirs, Faroese handicraft and much more. We recommend you to visit Heimavirkni, Berglon and Visit Runavík.

Drink and Dine

A 10 min walk from the port will bring you to the local hotel in town; Hotel Runavík, which has a café and a restaurant. We also recommend Café Cibo and Etika (Sushi Restaurant), which are no further than 500 meters from the port.

Saudarkrokur

When the buzz of an exciting, new Icelandic port called Saudarkrokur began to surface in late 2018, it soon became apparent that this relatively unknown Icelandic cruise port was definitely one to watch!

Well placed on Iceland's north coast and in the shelter of the Skagafjordur fjord, Saudarkrokur currently offers one berthing space alongside for cruise vessels up to 200 metres in length, along with two additional anchorages - one 0,5 nm away and the other 0,8 nm away. Worth noting is that an additional floating tender pier is planned for March 2020 in readiness of the port's first operational cruise season.

The port is equipped with WiFi and washroom facilities and is 15 minutes walking distance from the Old Town with its museums and quaint streets.

Worth a mention is the 'Verslun Haraldur Júlíussonar' - a wonderful, time-traveller style General Store on Adalgata that has been in business since 1919 and where the gas is still pumped by hand.

Attraction & Excursions

Glaumbaer Historic Turf Farm

Glaumbaer is one of Iceland's most beautifully preserved turf farmhouses. Step back in time to the 18th and 19th centuries and experience what life was like in Icelandic farms in a bygone age.

Drangey Island

Drangey island is sheer sided and approximately 180 m high with wonderful views over the fjord. Bird life on the island is diverse, with the most predominant varieties being puffins and guillemots.

White Water River Rafting

The rivers feeding Skagafjörður provide the best river-rafting in Iceland. All levels are on offer. The Austari Jökulsá is ranked the more difficult, while the Vestari Jökulsá is classed as easier.

Seydisfjordur

Seydisfjordur harbour provides an ideal destination for cruise ships. The peaceful village, shaped by Norwegian entrepreneurs over a century ago, lies sheltered by dramatic snow-flecked mountains.

The colorful, Norwegian-style wooden houses render this village unique in Iceland, and walking trails around town, out along the coast, or by the Fjardará River allow for many pleasurable and relaxing experiences. Seydisfjörður is distinguished by its close proximity to wild nature – some might even consider it on the verge of the uninhabitable. The climate and its harsh tendencies have shaped those living here. Seydisfjordur is home to approximately 700 residents, who have traditionally lived off fishing. In recent years, however, tourism has growing. Seyðisfjörður is one of Lonely Planet's top pick in Iceland. A part of Ben Stiller's movie "The secret life of Walter Mitty" was filmed in Seydisfjordur, a YouTube clip from the film can be found here below.

Siglufjordur

Siglufjörður is Iceland's northernmost town and is a historic fishing town whose fame and fortune has always been linked to the ebb and flow of the fishing industry. A tiny shark fishing village in 1900, Siglufjörður soon became one of the largest towns in Iceland and the undisputed capital of herring fishing in the Atlantic. Although the herring has disappeared, the town bears the distinct imprint of "The Herring Era".

Siglufjörður is along with the community of Ólafsfjörður a part of The Municipality of Fjallabyggð, which came into being when the two communities were merged in 2006. The area maintains a flourishing cultural activity and is known for its dynamic and vibrant extracurricular activities. There are interesting galleries and artist studios to be visited in town.

Since 2002 Siglufjörður has welcomed cruise ship passengers to visit this small town at the edge of North Iceland that is full of well kept history.

Jostedalsbreen National Park

In Jostedal, where glacier arms stretch down into green valleys, you can view the largest glacier in mainland Europe at close range. Join experienced guides on thrilling walks on the blue glacier ice.

Jotunheimen National Park

The Jotunheimen National Park mountains surrounding the fjord are perfect for short walks, hikes, climbing and skiing, and the trails lead you deeper and higher into Norway's most fascinating places.

Sognefjord

The world's longest navigable fjord lies in the heart of the Norwegian fjord country and extends more than 200 km inland. At the head of the fjord you'll find the idyllic village of Skjolden.

Vesteraalen "Sortland"

The Vesteraalen archipelago is a magnificent set of islands with the most stunning natural surroundings. This is a place that brings you back in time to what life was like 100 years ago. There are still people living on small islands where the boat is the only means of transport to schools, shops and amenities. This is a true representation of how to live off the land. Fishing is by far the largest industry. Due to the rich supply of fish this is also where you will find the magnificent whales. The Vesteraalen islands are home to whales all year round.

Torshavn

Tórshavn, set amid the clear waters of the North Atlantic, is one of the world's smallest Capitals. What Tórshavn lacks in size, it more than makes up for by the warmth of its welcome!

The city has 20.000 inhabitants and is situated on the island of Streymoy, which is the largest island in the Faroes - located centrally in the archipelago. This makes the port ideal for excursions to all corners of the Faroes. The history of Tórshavn dates back more than one thousand years. Much of the earliest historical timber-built houses with turf roof in Tórshavn date back to the 15-16th century.

Tórshavn has a rich and colorful history as a port community with strong traditions of serving the fishing industry. Today Tórshavn is the centre of all commercial and cruise traffic in the Faroe Islands. Tórshavn blends the historical and picturesque with all the features of a modern city. The visitor will experience quality restaurants, interesting museums, exhibitions, and, excellent shopping.

Tromsø

Welcome to Tromsø and the Arctic capital! Located above the Arctic Circle, you will have great opportunities of experiencing the Midnight Sun (from late May till late July) and Northern Lights (from late August till late April). Tromsø is an urban city with a lively cultural scene, busy cafés and restaurants serving world-class food, as well as history and modern art in museums and galleries. In immediate distance to the city center you will find yourself in the middle of nature between majestic mountains and views. Join seasonal activities like dogsledding, whale watching, Sami experiences and more.

Arriving here you will dock at Prostneset Harbour Terminal (Hurtigruten) or Breivika port (larger cruise ships). Prostneset lies in the city center surrounded by mountains on one side and urban city life on the other side. Breivika lies 4 km. north of the centre, and there is shuttle buses and transportation in connection with arrival and departure times. We're excited to see you here!

Great outdoors

Explore Sami culture, go dogsledding, whale watching, bike around the island, go on RIB-tours under the Midnight sun and more. Nature is only a few steps outside the city and adventures awaits!

Arctic Lights

We're lucky to have two natural phenomenon, the Northern Lights and the Midnight sun. Come between September and April to see the Northern Lights and late May till late July to see the Midnight sun.

Trondheim

Trondheim was founded by Viking King Olav Trygvason in AD 997 and occupies a special place in Norwegian history and culture. It was the nation's first capital and is today the third largest city in Norway with around 185 000 inhabitants.

Trondheim is surrounded by lovely forested hills, and the Nidelven River winds through the city. The charming old streets at Baklandet bring you back to architectural traditions and the atmosphere of days gone by. It has been, and still is, a popular pilgrimage site, due to the famous Nidaros Cathedral which is incorporated in the official European Cultural Routes on the same terms as Santiago de Compostela in Spain. Trondheim is also an ecclesiastical centre, a regional capital, a centre for commerce and administration – and, last but not least, a city of education and research.

Choose between a rich variety of historical sights, museums and art galleries - and look forward to an unforgettable experience.

Solent Stevedores Ltd

Solent Stevedores is a specialist port operator working throughout the UK, Channel Islands, and Singapore. The company operates long term contractual activities in the Port of Southampton, the River Thames, DP World London Gateway, the Port of St Helier in Jersey, and the Port of Immingham. Handling a diverse range of commodities and with a permanent workforce in excess of 180 personnel, Solent Stevedores is a market leader in the provision of Port services in the UK.

In the Port of Southampton, Solent Stevedores is renowned for its excellent reputation in providing a wide range of supporting services to some of the cruise industry's biggest lines. Every year company staff greet over 1.8 million passengers, load 2.5 million suitcases and handle 120,000 tonnes of provisions across 400 turnaround calls - nearly a 100% increase in business since 2010.

At Marina Bay in Singapore, Solent Stevedores handle a further 250 turnaround calls annually - the combined total making Solent Stevedores one of the global leaders in the provision of Stevedoring Services to the cruise industry.

SMS INTERNATIONAL SHORE OPERATIONS

SMS is one of the longest established private group of companies in Malta, having its roots in the shipping business. Notwithstanding the fact that SMS has been successful in retaining its core traditional values for professionalism and ethical standards, it continues to be at the cutting edge of innovation and diversification.

It is on this basis that SMS has developed from a shipping agency to a large group of companies employing over 500 persons active in travel, tourism, shipping, insurance, logistics, ship registration and financial services, as well as general trading.

SMS operates both locally and Internationally in over 10 different countries.

The Cruise Europe Port Handbook

Cruise Europe has 120 members in Northern and Atlantic Europe, in a geographical spread from Lisbon - Iceland - North Cape and St. Petersburg.

Our four very different regions offer a diversity of experiences as to history, culture and events.

White nights in the north, hot sunny days in the south. Very old and new exciting architecture as well as very old and new exciting art.

Museums where the guest can get an insight into all aspects of Europe's history, traditions, handicrafts and present day life. All regions give the guest an opportunity to feel the beat of the European cities, shop for the unique design of that special area and savour the national food and drink of the countries where the ships dock.

Nature in Europe is everything from pristine meadows to busy beaches, great coast lines, fjords and islands, walks in birch woods or cypress groves and well-kept golf courses - each with its own characteristic.

Cruising Europe is a movable feast and has become a popular destination over the past decade - there is still a lot to be discovered. Europe is no longer only a summer destination. Cruise lines visit our ports all year.

Christmas markets around Europe have become popular events that attract cruise calls, and the number of winter cruises looking for the northern light have increased dramatically the last few years.

Europe is a region with good infrastructure. Our members keep investing in piers, terminals, waste reception facilities and new shore tours. Every month we bring the broader cruise industry news of port developments or new infrastructure up and down our region.

In a world of geopolitical challenges, it's fair to say that Europe is politically stable.

The lines are not likely to face massive disruption to their itineraries in our region due to political issues if they decide to deploy their vessels in Northern & Atlantic Europe.

The Cruise Europe website and port handbook will give you a good general overview and a deeper insight into all the possibilities and temptations of Cruise Europe's unique destinations.

The key thing is that it can be updated regularly. The cruise lines can choose a region, a country or an itinerary. By choosing this way of presenting our wonderful region we have modern tool for the benefit of the cruise lines.

After all, that is what Cruise Europe is all about. Bringing the members and the cruise lines together.
